

A little closer to the coast.

Light, texture and the pleasure of taking your time.

A table for two. A view for miles.

An imaginary travel journal, made for trying out your next edit.

The morning table

GOOD COFFEE. FRESH LEMONS. NOWHERE TO RUSH.

Notice the small things.

A cup still warm from the first pour. The scent of lemon peel.

Soft shadows moving across the grain of a wooden table.

Some mornings are better measured in moments than minutes.
